

PROMISED NEXT WEEK.

"Mr. Lazarus."

One of the important engagements of the Washington theatrical season will be that of Henry E. Dixie in the new O'Higgins-Ford comedy, "Mr. Lazarus," next week at the Belasco Theater.

"Mr. Lazarus" is said to offer "Adonis" Dixie one of the best starring vehicles he has had in years. He will play the title role of the Western miner returned "as from the dead," and a little uncertain as to his identity. The play is the latest work of Harriet Ford and Harvey O'Higgins, authors of "The Argyle Case," "The Dummies," and "Polygamy." In the cast in support of Mr. Dixie will be Florence Arnold, William T. Clarke, Eva Le Gallienne, Marie Ascaraga, Tom Powers, George Henry Traylor, who put on "Treasure Island" this year, and who has been associated with a host of famous productions, is the stage director.

"Too Much Johnson."

"Too Much Johnson" will be the offering of the Poli Players next week. It is the work of William Gillette, the famous actor and playwright, and provides two and a half hours of farce. The adventures of "Mr. Johnson" are numerous and varied. One Billings has assumed this name to carry forward clandestine meetings with the wife of a Cuban importer who is much away from home. Billings has told his family that he is the owner of a ranch in Cuba and as is inevitable the time for showing that ranch to his wife and mother-in-law comes. Incidentally the importer becomes aware of certain amours and goes on a search of the gentleman in question. "Too Much Johnson" brings with it the tang of the Southern seas and the joys of life on the Cuban islands.

Vaudeville.

Keith's will next week present a varied bill headlined by Louise Dresser, the stage beauty and comedienne, recently starred in "Potash and Perlmutter in Society," a conspicuous Broadway figure for some seasons, and who will sing here by special permission George Cohan's new song hit, "Eric," with the ballads bearing the hall-mark of success. Other attractions will be Searl Allen, Ed Howard, and company, Noel Travers and Irene Douglas, Anna Chandler, "The Little Stranger," Harry Clarke, the Novelles, the piano organ recitals and the Pathe news pictorial.

Feature Films.

The features at Loew's Columbia next week will be "Silk and Satin," starring Marguerite Clark, for the first part of the week. The latter part of the week Louis Huff will make her debut as a Famous Players star in "Destiny's Toy."

Burlesque.

In the production of the "Jitney Girls," next week's production at the Lyceum. Director Harry Rogers has worked up what he considers one of the best burlesque entertainments he has produced. A lively brand of humor and the best musical numbers of the day are promised for the show.

Feature Films.

Mme. Petrova will be the center of attraction at Moore's Garden Theater from Sunday to Wednesday inclusive of next week in "The Social Law." On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Billie Burke will be seen in "The Social Law," a story of New York society life by Rupert Hughes. On Thursday and Friday as an extra attraction Mr. Moore announces the initial showing of the Mutual Master Picture, "Soul Mates," featuring William Russell and Charlotte Burton. On Saturday the novel and play, "Other People's Money," with Clara Hulette and J. H. Gilmour in the leading roles will be the main attraction.

Feature Films.

Douglas Fairbanks will head the double features program at Moore's Strand Theater in a whimsical story of Western life, entitled "The Good Bad Man," the secondary attraction being "The Social Law." On Wednesday, Thursday and Friday Lillian Walker will be seen in "The Social Law," a story of New York society life by Rupert Hughes. On Thursday and Friday as an extra attraction Mr. Moore announces the initial showing of the Mutual Master Picture, "Soul Mates," featuring William Russell and Charlotte Burton. On Saturday the novel and play, "Other People's Money," with Clara Hulette and J. H. Gilmour in the leading roles will be the main attraction.

Feature Films.

At Crandall's on Sunday of next week a return engagement of "Hypocrysy" is scheduled. Virginia Pearson is the featured player. "The Perils of Divorce" will be shown on Monday and Tuesday. The featured players are Frank Sheridan and Edna Wallace Hopper, and they are supported by a cast which includes Zoe Gregory, Macey Harlan, Ruby Hoffman and Edwin August. "A Woman's Honor," with Joe Collins as the featured player, is promised for Wednesday. Others in the cast are Arthur Donaldson, Devore Palmer, Bradley Barker, Ruby Hoffman and Mrs. Cecil Raleigh.

In the sale of the collection of Persian antiquities of Mirza Raffy, of Persia, at the Anderson galleries in New York, a sixteenth century Oushak palace rug brought the highest price of the sale, selling on order for $4,200. A bath without water is said to be one of the latest novelties. A thick robe is entwined with wires, and when put on a current of electricity is passed through the wires. The wearer of the robe soon finds his body getting warmer, until in a little while he perspires freely.

THEATRICAL BRIEFS.

Eva Le Gallienne, the ingenue of "Mr. Lazarus," coming to the Belasco Theater next week, made her stage debut a little over a year ago, when she was 15, with Constance Collier in the London production of "Monna Vanna." In New York she has been seen in "Mrs. Bolivar's Daughters," with Mrs. Fiske, and in "The Melody of Youth."

A. Paul Keith and Edward F. Albee, president and vice president, respectively, of the Keith circuit, were in the city last week looking over the interior summer decorations of the Keith Theater and planning a promising series of programs for the summer campaign.

Whitford Kane is to present "Lonesome Like," Harold Brighouse's Lancashire comedy, in vaudeville.

Brandon Tynan will present an Irish playlet in the two-act day.

The other day Sir Sidney Lee opened, at Shakespeare's birthplace, Stratford-on-Avon, an exhibition of original records illustrating the poet's life at Stratford.

Thomas Conkey has replaced Albert Parr in "Molly O."

Martin Harvey opened his tercentenary Shakespearean festival in His Majesty's Theater, in London, with "Hamlet," played before curtains. Mr. Harvey also gives "Henry V" in the Elizabethan method. Mary Anderson made the formal presentation of Ouslow Ford's bust of Lewis Waller as Brutus to the governors of the Shakespeare memorial at Stratford.

The Keith employees are all decked out now in their new summer uniforms. Manager Robbins intends marching all of them in the preparedness parade. The vaudeville artists that week also will be invited to participate.

Walter Jones has been engaged by Selwyn & Co. for a new play for next season.

John P. Campbell, director of the Irish Theater of America, has accepted for production by that company next season several new Irish plays.

Florence Reed and Malcolm Williams closed their season as stock stars at the Alcazar, San Francisco, with "For Value Received."

"Canary Cottage," a new musical comedy by Elmer Harris, Oliver Morosco and Earl Carroll, the authors of "So Long Letty," was produced in Los Angeles recently.

Anna Chandler, in the Keith bill next week, is one of the most popular makers of song hits on Broadway. The composers and publishers got her to introduce their vocal wares.

A playhouse for children between the ages of 7 and 16 years is the project of the Drama League of Chicago. It will be tried out next fall.

Harry Lewis, co-author with A. Seymour Brown and Otto Hauerbach, of "A Pair of Queens," now playing at the Cort Theater, Chicago, has just completed a new drama in three acts with a prologue, entitled "The Call of the Blood." Mr. Lewis is a lawyer by profession.

Grace Elliston, the actress, and Padric Colum, the Irish poet and playwright, have collaborated upon a play which will be produced in the autumn. Miss Elliston will be seen in the leading role.

William Harris, Jr., is to produce a play in which all the characters are negroes. The cast will include Edna May, Marion Abbott, Mrs. Stuart Robinson, Edna May Oliver, Lottie Alter, Harry Blakemore and Walter Walker. They will all use burnt cork.

A. H. Woods has begun rehearsals of Max Marcin's latest play, "Cheating Cheaters." The cast includes Robert McWade, William Morris, Marjorie Rambeau, Cyril Keightley, Edward R. Mawson, Edouard Durand, Ivan Simpson, Joe Smith Marba, Fletcher Harvey, Kathryn Osterman, Winifred Harris and Gypsy O'Brien.

John Cope is to act the role of Jethro Bass in a dramatization of Winston Churchill's "Conniston."

Mrs. Ralph Herz is to star in a sketch entitled "I Wish I Knew."

London music hall players are up in arms against the invasion of American vaudeville artists to take the place of married men who have been called to the colors—London cable to New York World.

Mabel Kip, the Washington girl who has been several times connected with the Poli Stock Company of this city, will be seen as "Suzuki" in the benefit production of "Madame Butterfly," which will be given under the direction of A. H. Van Buren at Poli's Theater tonight.

An important event to theatergoers will be the initial performance of Edwin Milton Royle's new play, "Peace and Quiet," which will open at the Belasco Theater on Monday evening, June 19, for a week's engagement.

Drama League Plans.

To keep alive the interest in the higher forms of drama which has been aroused throughout the country by the recent Shakespeare tercentenary celebration, the Drama League of America completed plans yesterday for the holding of another celebratory next year to be called "American Drama Year." This celebration, unlike the present one, is, says the New York Sun, to encourage the performances of representative American drama works and to bring the American public into closer sympathy with works of native manufacture. The campaign will be conducted along lines similar to the Shakespeare celebrations of the last few months. A general committee containing representatives of various organizations, such as the Lambda Players, the Society of American Dramatists and similar bodies, has been formed to superintend the details of the celebration. This committee is known as the American Drama Committee. The methods proposed to be carried out will be the inauguration of lectures, play reading, special courses in the schools and colleges, revivals of important American plays, exhibitions of manuscripts and play books and the establishment of a bureau of dramatic information which will be placed at the disposal of amateur organizations.

Nurses and physicians at the city-county hospital, at Fort Worth, Tex., are marveling at the wonderful resisting power of Scott Perkins' skull. Two loads of birdshot were fired at close range at Scott, who is a negro, each load striking its target. Perkins wasn't knocked down nor was he seriously injured. The skull was penetrated, the numerous shot lodging against the bone.

NOTES OF THE SCHOOLS

The season of "finals" in everything pertaining to school activities is at hand. Semester marks and "matinee" days are scheduled for the coming week. Officials are checking up condemned books and discarded apparatus, and balancing all financial outlays for the year, teachers are making lists for promotion and tentative organization; but many a small boy is simply waiting for school to "let out."

Last week had an interesting pay day for teachers as well as a drill day for high school cadets.

Dr. E. H. Pratt, of Chicago, will give a lecture under auspices of the Parents' League in the Woodward & Lothrop auditorium at 3:30 o'clock on the afternoon of June 19.

Practically the whole countryside turned out for the lawn fete and neighborhood party held at Woodburn School last Thursday night. Strings of Chinese lanterns added color and light to the natural sylvan beauty of the place. The sum realized for playgrounds was large.

School playgrounds open for a six-weeks term on July 1; vacation schools will be conducted at some of the grounds.

In the presenting of "Lend Me Five Shillings" at the class night exercises for Central High School, leading parts will be taken by Charles Ochstadt, Louis Stephenson, Allen Jones, Franklin Knook, Leo Simon, Hortense King, and Mildred Minster.

Girls of Tech have made both graduating and class night dresses after designing their own models. During the final week of school the entire graduating class will wear mortar board hats of maroon and gray—the school colors—made by the girls in the domestic art department.

Mrs. Edith Kingman Kern and other distinguished guests were present at the physical culture exhibition and outdoor festival held at the Ketcham School on Monday afternoon.

A section of the financial report submitted by the Parents' League, with respect to community work done during the past winter shows $1.09 in the treasury at the beginning of the season, $10.90 handed during the term, and $10 balance for opening the fall work.

Nearly 3,500 badges, pins and buttons have been distributed to the boys and girls of the grade schools, for attaining the athletic standard required by the physical director.

The annual reunion of Technical Alumni Association will be held Thursday, June 15, when the association will entertain the entire graduating class.

Physical examination of candidates for admission to the normal school was conducted last week by Dr. Taylor Jones, who reports an unusual facility in lung capacity of applicants.

Harold F. Allen, a former Tech student, has been graduated with high honors from Columbia University and been appointed to a position on its faculty.

Members of the wireless club have been given permission to use the apparatus and continue their experimental work during the summer.

A party of Tech girls, under the chaperonage of Miss Ellis, are spending the week-end in camp on the Virginia shore, opposite Sycamore Island.

Gen. Snyman, who served during the Boer war, and at the end was declared a traitor by England, but was subsequently pardoned, recently told the British Society of the University of Pennsylvania that if Bryan's policies were carried out by the Wilson administration this country would find itself in a position similar to the predicament of England at the beginning of the present European war.
